DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 15 is improper because it is not clear that claim 15 depend on claim 1, but claim 1 has been cancel. For the purpose of the examination, Examiner assumes that claim 15 is independent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claim 30 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murray et al. (Pub. No.: US 2003/0087664, hereinafter, "Murray") in view of Pine (U.S. Patent No.: 6,958,777).

Regarding claim 30, Murray teaches a wireless mobile communication device, a method of operation comprising: entering a first functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0013], cellular mode); facilitating user communication with another user of another communication device, using the wireless mobile communication device, during the first functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0013]); entering a second functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0013], dispatch mode); and emitting at least one light pulse from the wireless mobile communication device, during the second functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0015]).

It should be noticed that Murray fails teach integrating a first, a second, and a third light pulse of a red, a green, and a blue spectrum respectively to form one of the at least one light pulse. However, Pine teaches such features (see col.2, ln.22-30).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the teaching of Pine into view of Murray in order to save space for the device and the device can be make smaller.

5. Claim 34 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murray et al. (Pub. No.: US 2003/0087664, hereinafter, "Murray") in view of Naghi et al. (U.S. Pub. No.:2003/0072169).

Regarding claim 34, Murray teaches a wireless mobile communication device, a method of operation comprising: entering a first functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0013], cellular mode); facilitating user communication with another user of another communication device, using the wireless mobile communication device, during the first functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0013]); entering a second functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0013], dispatch mode); and emitting at least one light pulse from the wireless mobile communication device, during the second functional mode of operation (see col.1, [0009-0015]).

It should be noticed that Murray fails teach comprises narrowly diffusing the at least one light pulse being emitted. However, Naghi teaches such features (see col.3, [0029]).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the teaching of Naghi into view of Murray in order to avoid the hot spot as suggested by Naghi at col.3, [0029].

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 3-11, 13, 15-18, 22-29, and 33 are allowed.
